Theft prevention

Background

Serious crimes are unheard of in Salamansa but petty crime is extremely common.

Tourists are easy targets. We are ashamed to admit that many locals steal. Children can be particularly bad because some bad parents encourage them to steal (because they are too young to be sent to jail).

Another reason by theft is experiences so often by those at the beach is a crazy law know by the fisherman which states that when something in or at sea is found, it is the finder who becomes owner by law. That's why at the beach theft is particularly bad.

Tips

So it's important to minimize the risk of having your belongings stolen:

- Take as little with you to the beach as possible
- Do not leave your belongings out of sight
- The things that get stolen all the time are:
 - Flippers
 - Beach shoes
 - Bags
 - Wetsuits
 - Booties
 - Snorkelling gear
 - Phones & smartphones
